CONSOLIDATION

Of Willamette and Portland Universities, Will be Ordered

And Old Willamette Will be "It." Other Proceedings of the M. E. Conference.

Sunday, Sept. 24, was a day long to be remembered by the Methodists of Salem and vicinity.

At 9 a. m. occurred the love feast led by Rev. Edward Gittins. Bishop Vincent preached at 11 a. m. one of his forcible and masterly sermons.

The large choir under the competent leadership of Prof. Seely rendered two splendid anthems.

Miss Lona White and Mrs. Seely each sang beautiful solos.

Two young ministers were ordained to deacons' orders by Bishop Vincent. A collection of $150 was raised for the 18 disabled preachers and 9 widows of preachers of the Oregon conference.

The memorial service at 2 p. m. in memory of those of the families of ministers who have died during the year was an impressive service. The singing was led by Rev. S. A. Starr. The songs were: "One Sweetly, Solemn Thought;" "Rock of Ages;" and "Jesus Lover of My Soul." Rev. Summerville offered Prayer. Scripture was read by Rev. Abbe.

Dr. One spoke in memory of Horace Cline, son of Rev. and Mrs. C. E. Cline, of Portland.

Rev. John Parsons read a beautiful tribute to the memory of Miss Mildred Watters, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. D. A. Watters, of Salem.

Rev. Ford spoke of the faithful Christian life of Mrs. Horner, wife of Rev. E. R. Horner, of Falls City.

Rev. S. A. Starr spoke in the highest terms of the late Rev. C. R. Thoburn, the young and exceedingly promising pastor of Centenary church Portland who so recently answered the summons to "come up higher."

AT THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH. At 4:30 p. m. the Presbyterian church was filled to hear the Chautauqua Vespers service led by Bishop Vincent. Printed services were distributed and all took part in the responsive reading and hymns.

The Bishop gave a brief and interesting outline of the Chautauqua work.

1. As a place it is a summer resort that provides recreation by change of occupation.

2. As a movement provides for innocent, refining, stimulating occupation in literature, science, art, and higher social life, and seeks to permeate with the spirit of a sympathetic and Catholic faith.

3. It seeks to promote the culture of all people.

4. It stands for adult education.

5. It stands for popular education in wide ranges of thought.

6. Stands for the home as the most important and effective teaching agency.

7. Stands for the true co-operation of home with the sacred institutions, the public school, the college, the press, the public library, the public museum and whatever besides makes for the education of all people.

8. Stands for systematic reading under wise direction of college men.

9. Stands for the appreciation, circulation, and right use of books among the people.

10. Stands for the critical, scientific, literary, ethical, and devotional study of the Holy Scriptures.

11. Stands for the true spirit and art of teaching in wide ranges of human learning.

12. Chautauqua stands for the true spirit and art of living in harmony with the fullest unfoldings of truth in the Holy Scriptures in nature, in human nature, and in science, art and literature.

SUNDAY EVENING. At 6:15 the Epworth League of M. E. church, invited the Christian Endeavor of the Presbyterian church to meet with them and hear Mrs. E. Harrington-Cauland a Presbyterian missionary from China. The lecture room was crowded to standing room and Mrs. Cauland gave an interesting account of her work as a medical missionary. She formerly resided in Salem and has a host of friends here. T. S. McDaniels, president of Portland District Epworth League, also spoke briefly.

At 8 p. m. was held the annual missionary service. Prayer was offered by Rev. H. Oberg. Scripture read by Rev. W. Kellogg, D. D., of Portland.

The collections in Oregon alone for missions during the year just closed amounted to $4,674 an increase over last year of over 40 per cent.

MONDAY MORNING. Devotional exercises and lecture by Bishop Vincent. Regular business followed. Reports of committee called for. Conference stewards reported $1,568 apportioned among the 17 claimants.

Other committee reports read were on woman's home missions; books and periodicals; woman's foreign missions; Epworth League; church extension.

Resolutions of appreciation and thanks to Bishop Vincent for his just, kind and genial presidency during this conference were passed.

A committee was appointed to see to the support of Mrs. Raymond of Warrenton. She is the only one remaining of the earliest missionaries to Oregon, having labored for the Methodist church here for 50 years. She is nearly 90 years of age without relatives and lives alone and is a cripple.

Dr. H. K. Hines was introduced and spoke briefly of his book "The Missionary History of Oregon." Fifty years ago the Oregon conference consisted of four men; Wm. Roberts, Alvin Waller, J. H. Wilbur and David Leslie.

MONDAY MORNING. Committee on education reported and requested that Willamette university and Portland university be consolidated. The committee consisted of Henry Rasmussen, M. C. Wire, John Parsons and S. F. Jenkins.

As no plan was mentioned as to where the school would be located in event of consolidation or as to the details of such movement, Dr. L. D. Driver made a speech saying he would not vote for anything so indefinite and as his custom becoming quite emphatic in his language, it was seen a debate was to follow, and by vote of the conference the room was cleared of all persons not members of the body.

Secret session adjourned at 12 m. to meet again at 1:30 p. m.

Portland university men as good as admit that they are about gone under but would like to be let down as easy as possible.

In event of the consolidation the one school will be Willamette university and it will remain at Salem.

Conference will adjourn at 2 p. m. and attend the opening exercises at Willamette university. Bishop Vincent and Dr. J. K. Morris will deliver addresses.

SCHOOLS OPEN NEXT MONDAY. Eighth Grade Will Be Put Into the Lincoln School.

The repairs and painting of the school houses have all been finished up, and they are cleaned in good condition for the coming school season. The improvements in general will be appreciated by both pupils and teachers.

School will open on Monday, October 2. Superintendent Yoder will be at his office, in the East school building, where he can be found regularly from now on.

There will be a teachers' meeting on next Saturday, at the East school, and all teachers are requested to be present for the transaction of such business as may be of interest before the opening of school.

The eighth grade will be added to the South school, and some other changes may be made.

All school children can now register at their respective schools and will not have to go to the clerk's office.

Wheat. We are buying or storing all classes of grain at our warehouses at Salem and Macleay. Wheat prices range from the down to 30c per bushel.

DAMAGED WHEAT.

A Force of Men at Work Putting It In Sacks.

Its Disposition Not Yet Determined On Wheat to Be Received at the Lower Mill.

The pyramid of wheat left on the site of the burned warehouse and mill is now being sacked up preparatory to some disposition thereof, which has not yet been determined upon.

The insurance companies gave their consent that the milling company take charge of the wheat and do whatever could be done for its present preservation, and under Mr. Wilcox's instructions Manager Holland has a force of men at work.

A force of men were at work on Sunday pulling to pieces the wreck of the big flouring mill fire. The thick walls of the bins, which were left standing, were charred all over and in many places still burning. Much of this was torn to pieces and scattered over the street and the fires extinguished. Today the work of demolition is still proceeding. The fragments are being dragged out by horse power, loaded on trucks and taken away.

The work of sacking the piles of wheat at the ruins of the mill and warehouse was commenced yesterday, and a force of about 30 men was put on this morning, sacking with scoop shovels, sacks having been obtained from Portland.

The bins in the north end of the mill building were not elevated from the ground, as were those in the warehouse, and they were comparatively whole. By chopping a hole through the wall near the ground, the contents of one of these bins were drawn off into sacks in pretty good condition.

There is much fire about the premises still and the entire wreck seems to be smoking. Many hot little fires are eating away in different places, but it is thought better to let them alone than to turn any more water into the wheat.

The big pile of wheat is full of heat, and much of it is to be hot to bear the hand on after it is sacked.

There has been a rumor current that the farmers intended to demand of the milling company the full amount of their wheat, on the theory that a warehouse company is fully responsible for wheat on storage. There seems to be nothing in this, however, as it could not be verified.

A good legal authority, who has been employed by many of the farmers to look out for their interests, says that in his opinion a claim of this kind could not be enforced; that in the warehouse receipts given there is a special provision exempting the company from liability in case of fire; that in the cases where the farmers had not yet received their receipts, the common practice of warehouse men would govern.

As soon as the power can be put in, the company will commence receiving wheat at the lower mill. A donkey engine will be used temporarily, until the flume can be fixed up, and the company will be ready to commence receiving wheat about the middle of this week.

OLINGER and RIGDON Undertakers and Embalmers.

We wish to announce to the general public that we have purchased the most elegant and magnificent funeral car, of latest design, and are therefore in a position to handle funerals in a much better manner than heretofore, and with less expense. We have long felt that Salem, being the capital city of a great state, should be up-to-date in the manner of handling funerals, and we have therefore spared no expense in purchasing the car. It was built by the James Cunningham Co., Rochester, New York, who build the finest vehicles in the United States. While this is not the most expensive funeral car ever built, still it is the finest ever shipped to Oregon.

We cordially invite all to inspect our facilities, and when necessary require, to give us liberal patronage. OLINGER & RIGDON.
